“ The day I met you I knew my life would never be the same again. I didn't even give you my number and yet you managed to find me. Just like You found a way into my heart when I wasn't looking for anyone to occupy it. We were inseparable you and I. We went through a lifetime together in less than 10 years. It's as if we had known each other in another lifetime and ended up together again. Despite the ups and downs every relationship has, we were still very close. We NEVER gave up on one another. That's why I'm glad I was able to give you what you had longed for...your own child! Your precious daughter Hope was a beautiful gift from God! You were such an incredible father to her and made such a deep impact. Even though it's only been a month since your passing, she still looks out the window and says daddy is coming mama. He'll be here soon. You will forever be in our hearts! I wish I could write down all the special moments we had even the not so good ones. But those are memories I will hold dear to my heart always. Because in the end they were with YOU and that's all that matters! You taught me so many lessons about life and love. We had many chapter's in our lives still waiting to be written so many memories left to be shared. I know your in a much better place now watching over us. You are our Angel! Hope and I love you so much babe. Rest assured she will always know her dada! Until we meet again my love! I love you! We love you!

“ I met Taj at a very dark time in my life. A time when i really needed a friend. God makes no mistakes, and he sent Taj 🤔 as rough around the edges as he tried to appear, I could see the love and good in his heart. He could make me laugh, and he has comforted me when i cried. I don't count many people in this life as my friend...because i take that word seriously. I definitely had a friend in Taj. When i think about him...i smile. That Will never change. His heart was bigger than Texas! If too much time went by and we hadn't spoken, he would call just to say Hello💙 he invited me to his Mom's on holidays..... he made me feel loved. I hope he, and everyone else knows...i love him too. God has him now, so until we meet again, REST EASY BRO💙💙💙

“ I have so many memories of him I can't just pick one so I'm going to go with the first time I met him we were in high school and he would come in every day and go to sleep so one day I asked him I tapped him on the shoulder and asking why you always going to sleep so he look back at me with a huge grin on his face and said you wouldn't know nothing about this girl and we thought it stalking you can make me laugh on my God he's making me laugh when he talked about people and after that we was together every single day he even had me skipping classes with him a few times he was such a good dad to my boys for the longest time my youngest I thought he was his dad I They absolutely loved it when he cook oh my God I remember when he made his speciality oh my God I couldn't stand it it was noodles and cheese and corn chips and corned beef hash or whatever he could find put in it and he would put all that stuff together and put it on tortilla shells and the kids absolutely loved it. Till this they still eat it. Whenever he got a haircut the boys got a haircut he always put family first so he became a dead I knew he was going to be a awesome dad ... he really is going to be missed I really think I'm going to miss the arguments where you stay at over nothing.lol😍😭
